EXPECT U. S. SUPREME COURT TO TAKE JURISDICTION OVER GOV'T'S CONTEMPT CONVICTION OF JOHN L. LEWIS AND UMW FOR FAILURE TO CALL OFF SOFT-COAL STRIKE

gh Tribunal Plans to Hold Conference at Noon Today

LEED LEGAL BATTLE

pe to Soon Force an End To The 17-Day-Old Soft-Coal Walkout

By Phillips J. Peck

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(INS)—

U. S. Supreme Court is expected to take jurisdiction today over Government's contempt conviction of John L. Lewis and the United Workers Union for failing to call off the soft coal shutdown.

The high tribunal will hold a regular conference at noon.

The court will consider at once the Government's move to speed to a conclusion its legal battle to force an end to the 17-day-old soft coal walkout.

At the same time the government intended its fuel conservation orders in anticipation of a long coal strike and acted to increase strip coal production wherever possible.

The Supreme Court may announce on its next regular "decision day"—Monday—whether it will grant the Government's request for a writ of habeas corpus to force Lewis out of the district court case which resulted in a three-and-a-half million dollar fine against the UMW for a $100,000 fine against Lewis.

At that time the Supreme Court will officially assume jurisdiction of the case and set a date for arguments.

Along with the legal maneuvers is the crippling mine shutdown in these other developments:

The Civilian Production Administration mobilized all government-owned surplus power machinery needed to increase the output of strip mines—open pits which do not require the skill and training of miners in shaft mines.

The Government announced at the 21-st "brown-out" in the city of electricity will be extended to all stoppage hasn't ended.

1. Solid Fuels Administrator J. A. King limited electric utilities to 60% supply of coal. Those with excess tonnage were ordered to hold for SFA allocation or turn it over to other essential users.

2. Deliveries of coke produced on soft coal were limited by the civilian Production Administration to five specified types of users, including manufacturing gas utilities, steel processing plants and wholesale and retail coke dealers.

3. Issuance of priorities on iron and steel products was halted temporarily because of dwindling steel production resulting from the coal shortage. The action was taken as

John Cole is Speaker At Football Dinner

Through an unintentional error a Courier yesterday omitted the name of John Cole from an account intended concerning the banquet tendered the Bristol High School Varsity football squad by the members of the Bristol Exchange Club on Thursday evening.

Mr. Cole's name was not given to the Courier as being among those who spoke at the dinner. He was seated as a guest.

Having a right mental attitude in the game, as well as the right mental attitude in life, was the topic Mr. Cole, a graduate of the Bristol high school, class of 1933, and he gained considerable prominence as a football player.

FAREWELL DINNER

A turkey dinner was given in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Cook, Pond Washington streets, who left today evening for Redonda Beach, D. C., to make an extended visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cook, formerly of Bristol. The dinner was held Sunday afternoon at the home of her other-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hufnabel, Washington street. Those present: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher, Joseph and Edward Annackrecht, Seaside, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hilgendorf, Edgemoor; Mr. and Mrs. B. Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mead, Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, Mrs. Jennie Zimmerman and William and Charles Zimmerman, Bristol.

OXYGEN ADMINISTERED

Eva Beaton, Otter street, was removed to the home of her mother, Mrs. Robert Rue, Cedar street, by Bucks County Rescue Squad. The squad is now administering oxygen to the patient at the Rue home.

LEWIS ON THE LAW

Regardless of the outcome of Uncle Sam's lawsuit against John L. Lewis, the "last words" of Lewis stating his position to the court which had just found him guilty of contempt will have permanent interest.

For one thing, they represented one of the few times in Lewis' life when anyone forced him to answer the question of "why" he was doing something.

For another, they are an elaborate statement of the false reasoning and misconceptions which are at the bottom of the clash between labor bosses and the American people—which in turn is at the seat of much of the present generation's troubles.

The argument with which Lewis defended his refusal to bow to the court's injunction is summarized in the following quotation from his statement:

"There is a Federal Constitution binding upon all, even upon the Government, and that Constitution guarantees to the miners, as it does to all citizens, freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of assemblage, and freedom from involuntary servitude.

"Your injunction, sir, I respectfully submit, deprives the miners of these Constitutional rights."

The rest of the statement is merely an elaboration of this thought.

Now, it may be observed that no argument could appear more plausible on first reading; and few could be more fallacious on analysis.

Let's try to get to the heart of the matter.

Why are governments created in the first place? More especially, why was our own set up?

We don't have to guess. The preamble of the Constitution defines the purpose in exact language; and everything which follows needs to be read in the light of these fundamental purposes.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

With 80 Hathorah high school seniors as guests at a session of criminal court in Doylestown Wednesday, Judge Hiram H. Keller, taking time out to speak to them, said: "We are always glad to have students of your age and advancement to see the judicial branch of democracy administered."

"Through your study of the 'Problems of Democracy' no doubt you are familiar with the duties of the courts which are the judicial branches of the government.

"You are from Montgomery county although some of you no doubt are residents of this county. Up until 1874 Bucks and Montgomery county courts were the same district.

"In those days there were two associate judges, not lawyers, not learned in the law, who aided the regular judges. When the Montgomery county courts were established the practice of having two associate judges was discontinued.

"There are still some counties—Monroe and Pike, Adams and Fulton—in Pennsylvania which have two associate judges.

"This morning you saw the first stages of a criminal prosecution," Judge Keller said.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Iranian Ambassador reported to the Security Council that the Russian envoy in Teheran had advised the government not to send troops into the northern province of Azerbaijan. The Greek Premier, also concerned over a frontier area, conferred with Secretary Byrnes as Athens dispatches predicted wider guerrilla attacks.

As the London conference on India failed, Britain declared that no Constitution would be submitted to Parliament unless it had the support of all factions. But the gulf between factions was widened by the appointment of Asaf Ali, Congress party Moslem, as Ambassador to the United Nations.

Chinese Communists rejected further negotiations on the basis of present troop dispositions.

Meanwhile, in the various United Nations meetings some progress was made.

With Foreign Secretary Molotov in a conciliatory mood, a subcommittee of the Political and Security Committee adopted the vital second paragraph of the United States resolution on disarmament and the abolition of atomic weapons.

The United States stepped into the vexed question of the site for United Nations headquarters, denying Russian charges and declaring in favor of the East Coast.

The General Assembly still has many weighty issues tied up in committee but expects to adjourn next week.

The Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee rejected a Soviet proposal that a United Nations investigating commission inspect conditions in European displaced persons camps. And the subcommittee on trusteeships, over objection from Russia, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, approved the drafts of trusteeship agreements for seven trust areas.

The Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting in New York, announced the first five peace treaties would be signed between Feb. 1 and Feb. 15, and at the same time informed the Security Council of its responsibility for the Free Territory of Trieste.

Gifts Galore Await The 20,000th Man To Enlist

The U. S. Army Recruiting Service in Philadelphia is nearing the enlistment of the 20,000th man for the year 1946. "To be this 20,000th man is going to be an honor surpassed by only the advantages of the new Regular Army, which are accrued at the time of enlistment," army officials state. "As an example the 20,000th man will receive a week-end in one of the most fashionable hotels in Philadelphia, with all expenses paid, for he and his wife or girl friend. In addition he will receive a portable radio, a leather wallet, traveling bags and numerous other gifts. So let's make that 20,000th man from Bristol."

For further information pertaining to enlistment into the Regular Army contact the U. S. Army recruiter at the Bristol post office on Wednesdays, Thursdays or Fridays, from 10 a. m. to four p. m.

SHOPPERS ARE BUSY PURCHASING GIFTS

Report Satisfaction at Wide Variety Being Offered By Merchants Here

OFFER BIG SELECTION

With the public urged annually to do Yuletide shopping early, and advised particularly this year of possible hindrances in shipping of parcels, residents of this area are apparently "getting the jump" on this phase of work.

Merchants in Bristol report good crowds, steady and increasing purchases; while the buyers report satisfaction at the variety of goods to be found locally.

"Look at all the glass bakeware you give her for less than $5" is the message of Bristol Hardware Co., which is featuring 11 pieces in this gift set. And what's more the various sized dishes can be used for baking, serving and storing, and they are gift boxed.

E. L. Clarke, whose Bristol telephone number is 9632, suggests "Do your Christmas shopping at home."

A telephone call will bring Miss Clarke to your home, where she will be glad to display and tell of the features of the line of brushes for which she accepts orders.

"The largest assortment of quality toys and sporting goods in Bucks County," is the holiday information which Diamond Sporting Goods at 134-36 Mill street, has for the public. A "lay-away" plan makes it possible to have goods held until Christmas eve.

The promise of Dries' Furniture Store, 329 Mill street, is that "lifting of government price controls will not add one red cent to the cost of our merchandise." For that quick clean-up job this firm suggests a stream-lined hand-sweeper. They come in handy many a time when it is not desirable to take out the heavier electric sweeper.

As a gift for hubby or son, Singer Brothers on Mill street suggests underclothing—fig leaf briefs, combed yarn undershirts and mid-way briefs. The briefs are the strong cotton knit shorts that were made for Uncle Sam's navy men.

For a really personal gift, Marty Green, whose local store is on Mill street, offers leather wallets and key cases which can be initiated for Christmas giving. The assortment of wallets includes full-zipper, part-zipper, and other wallets with pictures of Hawaiian dancing girls, Western and Mexican scenery.

For a festive holiday time Peter Fan Linen Shop, 215 Mill street, has all types of linens. There are table cloths and dinner sets; and in the cup 'n' saucer line a "bright parade of towels and toweling that were meant for your kitchen—absorbent towels that give glass-ware and dishes a jewel-lustre."

A full line of watches of some well-known makes is advertised by Bogage & Son, whose jewelry and clothing shop is at 1816 Farragut avenue. Other gift suggestions in the jewelry line are rings for both men and women.

The array of house slippers at Popkin's Shoe Store, 418-20 Mill street, is a big one, and worthy of holiday shoppers' time. There are all types, even to the warm, fuzzy ones which the little ones love.

GIRL FOR HERMAN

Mr. and Mrs. William Herman are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter in St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, N. J., on November 24th. The baby has been named Barbara. Mrs. Herman and daughter have returned to their home on Wilson avenue.

CIRCLE ELECTS

At the Christmas tea of St. James Circle held Wednesday in St. James' rectory, Mrs. Walter Pitonka was elected president, and Mrs. Howard Focht, vice-president. The treasurer is Mrs. Wesley Spencer, and the secretary, Mrs. William Groff.

INDUSTRY HERE SHOWS EFFECTS OF COAL STRIKE

Fleetwings Closed Last Midnight For An Indefinite Period

ROHM & HAAS PLAN

Big Chemical Firm Announces Progressive Schedule of Curtailment

Fleetwings Division of Kaiser Cargo closed their plants here last midnight, giving as the reason "the coal strike, freight embargo and resulting shortages of materials."

The Rohm & Haas Company, another Bristol industry, to be effected by the results of the combination of strikes, issued a statement outlining the effects upon their three plants—Bristol, Bridesburg and Knoxville, Tenn.

The statement of Rohm & Haas reads: "Shutting down of the 3 plants of the Rohm & Haas Company as a result of the coal strike and the freight embargo will not be made completely effective immediately, but, will be accomplished on a progressive schedule, department by department, beginning the week of December 9," according to Dr. L. W. Covert, Rohm & Haas vice president in charge of production. "This is being done not only to serve the company's customers as long as stocks of raw materials will permit, but also to give employees the maximum possible amount of pre-Christmas pay."

"By December 16, it is expected that approximately 600 employees

Repudiating Elliott

Washington, Dec. 7. PERHAPS it is not important, but the report that the "close associates" of the late President Roosevelt are preparing to "ditch" the unsavory Elliott is at least interesting. Certainly, it is about time.

THE form which the repudiation is taking, however, makes the belated indignation of the "close associates" seem a little overdue and not quite the real thing. For, while they do lambast Elliott with considerable fervor, their denunciation is remarkable more for the things they do not say than for the ones they do. Analyzing the outpourings on this subject, it is slightly puzzling to know whether the purpose is more to damn Elliott or to exalt the other members of his family.

AT any rate, the baseness of Elliott is contrasted with the nobility of his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and his two brothers, Jimmie and Franklin. These are pictured as the "respectable" members of the family and their anti-Communist sentiment is described as much stronger than Elliott's pro-Communism. Mrs. Roosevelt, in fact, is shortly to participate, it is said, in a non-Communist meeting in Washington on January 4, which, it is predicted, will be a turning point in the story of American progressivism—what ever that may mean.

THREE broad charges are made against Elliott by the "close associates"—(1) that he has capitalized his father's name and reputation to make a considerable sum of money for himself—and plans further commercial exploitation along the same lucrative lines; (2) that he has given aid and encouragement to the Communists here and abroad, criticizing the United Nations and his own country; (3) that he has degraded his father's memory by distorting his views. Few persons would care to defend Elliott on any one of the three. He deserves everything the "close associates" now say of him and a whole lot more.

Anniversary of Forrest Theatre Blaze

(By "The Stroller")

Twenty years ago today the Forrest Theatre was burned to the ground, according to Edward Lynn, who was manager of the Forrest and has been manager of the Grand Theatre which was built upon the site of the theatre ruined by fire.

It was on the night of December 7th, 1926, states Mr. Lynn, that fire was discovered in the Forrest Theatre. It was smoldering cold on that night and firemen suffered severely in fighting the blaze.

TURNING ON THE NATURAL GAS

DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT Tom Evans (left), of the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company, and R. W. Hawkins, divisional superintendent, are shown opening the valve on the company's main transmission line at Natchitoches, La., which carries natural gas at a rate of 50 million cubic feet daily into the "Little Big Inch" pipe line. The gas is being pumped to the middle west, where it will help alleviate the fuel shortage brought on by the current soft coal walkout. (International)

APPLICANTS SHOW A DISPARITY IN AGES

Number of Marriage Licenses Issued During November Mark An Increase

OLDEST, BRISTOLIANS

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 7.—Disparity in ages of brides and grooms-to-be who applied for licenses here during November was quite noticeable.

The number of licenses issued last month was 141, compared to 97 in the same month of 1945.

Two years ago, there were only 67 licenses applied for in the same month. Other past November totals are as follows: 1943, 72; 1942, 116; 1939, 228; 1938, 169; 1937, 128; 1936, 165; 1935, 129; and 1934, 181.

The reason for the low number being issued in November of 1943, 1944 and 1945 is attributed to the fact that so many of the eligible males were in the service of their country. Now that the war is over, the return of GI Joe has been keeping Clerk of Orphans' Court Leonard H. Leator, of Riegelsville, and her deputy, Joseph B. Keating, of Bristol, busy.

Two-thirds of the applicants for licenses this November were in their twenties. Thirty-two of the 151 male applicants were in their thirties; while 23 of the 151 females were in the same age group.

There were no exceptionally old or young prospective brides or bridegrooms applying. This is the first month in several that there have been no 16-year-old applicants. Likewise, although there are usually several 60-year-olds, applying, there was only one this past month.

Nine men and four women were between the 40 and 50 age mark. In the fifty age group there were five men and two women. Only two teen age bridegrooms applied. Both were 19 years old.

There were 17 teen-age brides-to-be applying. Eight of them were 18. Continued on Page Three

ACQUIT MAN OF CRIMINAL CHARGE LODGED BY WOMAN

William Donnelly, of West Bristol, is Released After Trial by Jury

EVIDENCE IS GIVEN

Other Court Cases Heard By Juries at Criminal Court Session

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 7.—After deliberating two hours a jury acquitted William Donnelly, 7th and Steel Avenue, West Bristol, of a criminal charge, late Thursday afternoon.

Her face blanched and tear-stained, a Bristol township mother, who has two children now and is expecting another, told Judge Hiram H. Keller and a jury in criminal court, Wednesday, how she discovered a man in bed with her in her home on May 14, 1944, when she was criminally attacked. The victim was Mrs. Howard L. McGoldrick, Jr.

The witness testified she put her two children to bed and after finishing her ironing, retired for the night. Between 1 and 2 o'clock she was disturbed and horrified after turning on the light to see the defendant William Donnelly, 7th and Steel Avenue, West Bristol, in bed beside her.

The defendant, who is charged with rape, assault and battery with intent to ravish, aggravated assault and battery, pulled a sheet up over his face to hide his identity. It was stated.

The witness's husband, who was in the Army and stationed at Aberdeen, Md., was expected home on furlough. The defendant, who was also in the Army, slipped into the bungalow and attacked the sleeping mother.

The mother testified that earlier in the evening the defendant dropped in bringing with him several bottles of beer. He became annoying and she asked one of the neighbors, Harry Zobel, a road supervisor, to take him out. Donnelly also became familiar with a married sister of the witness it is said.

Zobel, who sensed that the defendant was intoxicated and might become unruly, sent for a brother who came and escorted him out of the house.

Harry Wagner, 71 Bowman and Belmont Avenue, Bristol, R. D. 1, testified that he saw the defendant outside of the bungalow between 1 and 2 o'clock and walked around the house looking for some one.

"I said to him, Donnelly, 'whoever entered that house will be arrested and he didn't say anything,'" Mr. Wagner testified.

BOOKS ARE PRIZES IN LITERATURE CONTEST

Mrs. George E. Boswell and Mrs. L. J. H. Hutton Are First Prize Winners

TRAVEL CLUB EVENT

One of the most anxiously awaited programs of the Travel Club season—the literature contest—was conducted yesterday afternoon. On this occasion members assembled in the club home for their bi-weekly meeting, heard announcement of winners in the two sections, poetry and prose, and listened as the offerings were read.

There were first and second prizes in each division, first prizes being books; and second, congratulatory cards. To Mrs. George E. Boswell, Radcliffe street, were awarded first honors in the prose section, the title of her Christmas story being "The Broken Trust"; second honors going to Mrs. Leon H. J. Hutton, Edgely, for her story "Patients". Those receiving honorable mention for prose offerings are Mrs. Ernest W. Lawrence, Jr., Torresdale; and Miss Mary J. Haines, Radcliffe street.

For her short poem "Wrinkles", Mrs. Hutton won first prize in the poetry division, and also carried off second poetry prize for "On Reading a Rural Telephone Directory." Honorable mention for poetry was accorded Mrs. Frank Lehman, Mrs. Howard R. Focht, Mrs. Walter W. Pitonka, and Mrs. Russell W. DeLong. Participants were invited by the judges to read their entries for enjoyment by their co-members.

Serving as judges of the contest were: Mrs. Fred Watts, Morrisville, chairman of literature for Bucks Co. Federation of Women's Clubs; Continued on Page Three

78 Perish in Hotel Fire

Atlanta, Ga.—A total of 78 persons perished today in a disastrous fire that converted the Wincoff Hotel on Atlanta's famed Peachtree street into a flaming pillar of death.

This figure was given by Mayor William B. Hartsfield, who said he did not know how many of the guests in the 14-story brick hostelry were injured. Hospital authorities said 45 persons who escaped the hotel were treated for burns.

One physician said most of the guests either were burned to death, were critically burned, or escaped without any injuries.

The fire apparently began on the eighth floor of the 14-story, 350-room brick structure, but fire department officials were unable to say how the tragic blaze originated, or what made it spread so quickly.

The flames were brought under control at 6.15 a. m., three hours after the fire broke out.

Some persons who tried daring leaps to safety missed their marks.

Three Hunters Killed in Auto Accident

Bellefonte—Three Pittsburgh hunters were dead and four others in the Phillipsburg State Hospital today with injuries received when their automobile plunged down an embankment and landed in the Susquehanna River near Karthaus, in Centre County.

The dead were identified as Cletus Weber, 38, Arthur Boltz, and William Joseph Gensler.

SURPLUS SALES

Disposal of surplus war goods, like war itself, is an extremely wasteful process. This is true especially when surpluses are piled mountain-high, as they are today. With the best will and the most efficient organization in the world it would still be impossible to unload such vast quantities of goods in a hurry except at heavy loss.

It is not surprising that the War Assets Administration, which is handling the job, is running into a heavy barrage of criticism from Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. To anyone who has the interests of the country at heart, it is painful to see goods purchased at great cost sacrificed for little or nothing.

There is little doubt that the business could be more efficiently handled than is the case today. There is no question that costly mistakes have been made. Part, at least, of the trouble is the method devised by someone of selling these huge surpluses by priorities. Certain classes of citizens can buy, the great majority of taxpayers cannot. Naturally this cuts down demand for the goods.

It is the announced intention of War Assets Chief Robert M. Littlejohn to expedite sales to the maximum to prevent the government from being in competition indefinitely with private industry. That is a laudable aim, but if rules are so rigged that people who could use the stuff are not permitted to buy it, the government—that is to say, the taxpayers—will continue to take a beating.

JUNK ON WHEELS

Offhand a person might get the idea that these are banner days for auto wreckers, what with 2,000,000 cars going out of circulation this year because of old age and other infirmities.

The idea is all wrong, according to Lou Delson, executive secretary of the National Auto Wreckers Association. Mr. Delson says that 40 per cent of the cars on the country's highways are nothing but junk—so junky that they are even forcing wreckers out of business.

Time was, Mr. Delson says, that wreckers tore worn-out cars apart and fitted the usable pieces into other machines at a reasonable profit.

"But now," he adds, "people are driving their cars down to the last sparkplug. They won't be good for anything but a blast furnace when we get our hands on them."

It's a little disconcerting to realize that four out of every ten cars one meets in traffic are in danger of collapsing right in front of them.

It's to be hoped, devotedly, that some of the rumors floating around about new cars are untrue. If the cars the factories are turning out now are candidates for replacement in a year or two, when will the more than 20,000,000 motorists now driving cars six years or more old obtain new cars?

CHURCHES FEATURE OUTSTANDING EVENTS AT SERVICES

FOR SUNDAY AND THE WEEK WHICH WILL FOLLOW

"CHRISTMAS CAROLS AND CUSTOMS" WILL BE SUNDAY SUBJECT

Tomorrow night there will be another service in the series of special Sunday evening meetings in Bristol Methodist church. Special guests will be Miss Elizabeth MacFarlane, organist, a graduate of the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music, who will sing as one of her numbers "O Lord Most Holy," accompanied with organ, piano and violin; Miss Oleta Dietrich, concert violinist; and Miss Annetta Lockhart, concert pianist of Philadelphia, who will play two selections.

The speaker will be Howard F. Horner, national director of Sunday night service plans, and director of the Ocean City, N. J., tabernacle programs, who will talk on "Christmas Carols and Customs." Mr. Horner will sing a number of the lesser known carols.

The senior choir will sing a Christmas anthem under direction of Miss Winifred V. Tracy, music director. The singing ushers will also be a feature of the service.

Other Sunday services announced by the pastor, the Rev. W. E. Preston Haas, are: 9:45 a. m., session of Bible School; 11 a. m., divine worship, celebrating Universal Bible Sunday; the pastor, the Rev. W. E. a logical deadlock which can be resolved in only one direction. There are three propositions in conflict: first, that the interests of the whole public are supreme; second, that a strike is harming those interests; third, that it would be unconstitutional to "make" the strikers go back to work.

There is only one discoverable hole out of that deadlock; and that is to conclude that the duty of the government to restore production by use of other means than the striking union; which can mean only by use of "strike-breakers." This reasoning would lead to the further conclusion that the "closed shop" principle is incompatible with the Constitution.

By various lines of reasoning, many Americans at

WHY GO TO CHURCH?

A stranger passing a large mine in Pennsylvania asked a little boy why the field was so full of mules.

"These mules are worked in the mine during the week," replied the boy, "and are brought up into the light on Sunday to keep them from going blind."

Do you "come up" on Sunday—up from the worries, the struggles, and the hardships of the week to let the light of God's Word shine into your heart? Or do you spend your Sundays "down in the mine," where you spend your Saturdays, your Mondays, and your Tuesdays?

If church attendance is not a part of your regular Sunday schedule, you are missing something priceless. "Blessed are they that hear the Word of God and keep it," says Jesus. Their eyes have seen the light which keeps their souls from going blind!

After a week of failure and fumbling, of missing the mark, of sinning, there is no experience more glorious than the divine assurance of God's minister: "Be of good cheer, thy sins be forgiven thee." Matt. 9:2. Also Matt. 11:28; John 3:16.

After a week of trial and trouble, of worry and anxiety, of disappointment and disillusionment, there is no greater lift than the intimate assurance straight from the heart of God: "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." Heb. 13:5.

After a week of stumbling and groping there is nothing more reassuring than an hour spent in the company of Him who said: "I am the Light of the world. He that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life." John 8:12.

Saturday has no sorrow which Sunday cannot heal—if Sunday is a day of worship, prayer, and praise.

If you have been depriving yourself of the joy of a Christ-centered Sunday, if you have been spending your Sundays "down in the mine," when you could have been spending them up in the light, decide now that you are going to church next Sunday—today if possible.

husband's position as President and, through newspapers, magazines, radio and the lecture platform, made a lot more money than Elliott—money which no one contends she could have made if she had not been the President's wife. This can be—and is—defended as proper by Mrs. Roosevelt and her friends. Perhaps it is—but it is exactly what the "close associates" now are fiercely angry with Elliott about.

ON THE pro-Communist charge, those now assailing Elliott and aiding Mrs. Roosevelt as the "leading liberal non-Communist," make no mention of the encouragement Mrs. Roosevelt, in her time, has given the Communists here. This is not to question the sincerity of Mrs. Roosevelt's anti-communism. She is always sincere. It is merely to point out that in the past she has lauded and approved the concededly Communist-controlled American Labor party of New York; that she has been in various youth and peace movements—since taken over by the Communists; that she has stood by and supported the Communist-saturated CIO; that she is a member of the New York Chapter of the Newspaper Guild, which it has been widely charged, is Communist controlled and which, Mr. Westbrook Pegler asserts, a few days ago made an award of honor to a Communist with a criminal record.

NONE of this makes a Communist of Mrs. Roosevelt. None of it questions the purity of her purposes or her personal patriotism. She is a good woman who makes a lot of mistakes, but always means well. It does, however, question the right of those now ridiculously portraying her as a superwoman whom all must love and admire, to so completely ignore the record and dismiss the facts. But that is the way with the Roosevelt intimates when they start out to make a point. In their case against Elliott, which is a sound one, they ignore not only Mrs. Roosevelt's record of White House commercialization but also that the growth of Jimmie's insurance company in the years of his father's presidency was little short of a business miracle and not far from a scandal.

NOTABLE, too, is it that in their indictment of Elliott for what he has done to his father's reputation, not one word is said of the large financial borrowings, which he made with the assistance of his father, who later, by drafting the services of Mr. Jesse Jones, enabled him to settle approximately $600,000 of debts for 2 cents on the dollar. To those who fully appreciate the facts, this inflicted far worse damage to Mr. Roosevelt's reputation than anything else that has been done to it. It is easy to understand why the "close associates" do not mention it, but it justifies indignation more than the things they now cite. However, they are to be congratulated that they no longer can stand Elliott. But it would be better if, at the same time that they agree as to Elliott's infamy, they would not try to make everybody else agree that the other members of the family are all paragons of piety and wisdom, unselfish laborers in the vineyard of the Lord. A large majority of the intelligent citizens of the country know better than that.

LEWIS ON THE LAW

"WE THE PEOPLE of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure Domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the General Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

This may be summarized under four points: First, the American people themselves are sovereign. ("We the People," "more perfect Union," "common defense," "General Welfare.")

Second, the immediate objective is law and order. ("Justice," "Domestic Tranquility")

Third, the broad objective is the betterment of the whole people. ("General Welfare.")

Fourth, the government shall be strong enough to endure. (" . . . secure . . . Liberty . . . to . . . our Posterity.")

A little thought about these fundamentals makes it clear that whatever act by a man or a group runs counter to these objectives is not merely "anti-Constitutional," but so strongly contrary to the purposes and objectives that it borders on anarchy.

Moreover, in such an event, there are two immediate and powerful compulsions upon the government: first, to maintain its own authority and integrity; second, to uphold the superior rights of the whole people against the inferior rights of the individual or factions.

Taking this reasoning a step further, it ought to be obvious that it is contrary to the whole concept of the Constitution for a man or faction to claim a "right" to do things detrimental either to the government itself or to "We the People."

The fact of the matter is, of course, that this view has always prevailed in conflicts between private rights and public rights—in all fields save that of labor relations.

Some rights are limited by express statement, others by implication and logic. The habeas corpus right, for example, by explicit provision, is suspendable "in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion." But "the right of people to keep and bear Arms" has never been held to authorize the carrying of concealed deadly weapons.

The various rights which Lewis argues are invaded by injunctions fall into this latter category. Like all so-called rights (saving only the "unalienable" rights of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness cited in the Declaration of Independence) they have always been held to be "rights" only when exercised in such manner as not to disturb, first, the equal rights of all others, and second, the superior rights of the whole people.

"Freedom of speech" doesn't protect libelous utterances, and never did. Neither does "freedom of press." "Freedom of assembly" doesn't protect a mob. These rights have always been limited rights. Broadly speaking, their use always has been definable by "due process of law"—which incidentally includes injunctions.

As for "involuntary servitude," this prohibition was written to cover a specific matter, that of slavery, and it cannot be extended far from that subject. Taken literally, it would prohibit military draft. Its applicability to labor disputes is most doubtful.

But even if it were accepted, it immediately produces ready have reached such a conclusion; and it may be that a serious effort will be made during the next Congress prohibit closed shops by statute.

At any event, nothing becomes more clear on examination than that Lewis and other labor bosses are relying upon chance phrases in the Constitution in striving to carry out a program that runs strongly counter to the basic purpose for which the Constitution was written.

They are trying to set up the "rights" of their own groups as superior to those of the whole people. That just what the Constitution was intended to prevent.

Acquit Man of Criminal Charge Lodged by Woman

His wife, Mrs. Katie Wagner, testified she was aroused by a knocking on the door and a call for help from the witness who yelled "Call Buck, there's a man in our house."

Following the incident in the bedroom, the defendant re-appeared in the house and said, "You can't say I did anything to you."

The twenty-three-year-old mother testified she had the windows closed in her bedroom and that the front door had been "nalled up" by her husband. She said the defendant broke through the front door in his efforts to leave quickly following his identification.

Resuming the trial, Lillian Van Dine, a sister-in-law of the assaulted woman, testified she prepared breakfast for the little boy while his mother told what happened that night.

"She broke down while telling me what happened and I didn't ask her any questions," said Mrs. Van Dine.

Howard L. McGoldrick, Jr., husband of the prosecutrix, testified he was serving in the Army at Aberdeen, Md., when the attack happened.

"I arrived home between 4 and 5 o'clock the afternoon of the same day my wife was attacked. The front door had been wrenched open by force," the husband testified.

"My wife looked dreadfully bad to me and I asked 'Honey, what is the matter?' She told me William Donnelly had got into the house and harmed her. She was so nervous she could hardly talk," said Mr. McGoldrick.

The defendant, taking the witness stand, testified that he was home on a furlough which began May 12, 1944. He admitted visiting a number of taprooms and bars six or eight and taking two or three drinks — whiskey with beer chasers — on May 13.

"I was walking up the road when I heard a woman's voice boisterous and I went to the McGoldrick home to see what it was," the defendant testified. He admitted having visited the McGoldrick home earlier in the evening of May 13, but denied that he entered Mrs. McGoldrick's bedroom between 1 and 1:30.

He admitted being at the McGoldrick home after 1:30 when the neighbors and friends were searching for a "man who had been in Mrs. McGoldrick's bedroom."

"Mrs. McGoldrick said to me I was in her house and I answered that I wasn't in her house," the defendant, who returned from an overseas assignment, said.

The 36-year-old defendant, who is now employed at the Philco Corp., made a general denial.

Leroy M. Hendricks, 230 New street, Quakertown, charged with involuntary manslaughter, was freed on Tuesday, when Judge Calvin S. Boyer discharged him following the sustaining of a demurrer offered by his counsel, former State Senator Henry L. Snyder.

Hendricks was driving a car on the wrong side of the street in Quakertown, October 11, 1945, when his fellow-passenger, Charles Olexon, 47, was killed in a car-truck collision.

The demurrer, which was presented following the closing of the Commonwealth's side of the case, was sustained by Judge Boyer on a technicality. "Driving on the left-hand side of the street was a remote cause of Olexon's death," Judge Boyer said. "The real cause is something else which the Commonwealth, unfortunately, cannot put in evidence."

"The evidence would not sustain a verdict of guilty on an involuntary manslaughter charge," Judge Boyer said.

Hendricks and Olexon, who had been drinking at some club house were in the defendant's car which was being operated along the street for more than several hundred feet on the wrong side.

Orville Crouthamel, 30, Perkaste, R. D. 2, who lives between Kulp's Corner and Bedminster, saw the defendant coming toward him on the wrong side of the street, but, thinking that the defendant was going to make a left-hand turn, Crouthamel also drove on the left hand side and at the intersection of Hellertown avenue and Mill st., the truck and car collided.

Charles Shive, 41, Richlandtown, who was following the defendant, but was driving on the right side of the street, helped get the defendant and Olexon out of the car. Both were unconscious. Olexon died in the Quakertown Community Hospital soon after the crash.

Chief of Police Newton Rapp, of Quakertown, who investigated the car-truck crash, testified as to the position of both vehicles. The defendant's car ran into the Crouthamel truck just behind the cab striking the body.

"The defendant, Hendricks, kept telling me he was going to make a right-hand turn when the accident happened," Chief Rapp said.

Members of the jury, which were excused, were John L. Atkinson, foreman, town; Elizabeth Borning, Newtown, R.D.; Ethel W. Savage, Langhorne, R.D.; William R. Moll, Quakertown, R.D. 3, and J. Watson Stoop, New Hope, R.D.

Mrs. Helen Olexon, widow of Charles Olexon, broke down and wept as she recalled her husband's death and the last time she saw him alive.

a blow at the Veterans' Housing program.

CPA directed the War Assets Administration to make all suitable crawler tractors, scrapers, motor graders, and power shovels available to strip mine operators holding CPA urgency certificates.

Strip mines account for about 17 per cent of the country's bituminous output. The UMW walkout closed many such pits, but some non-union strip mines still are operating.

President Truman, who will deliver a radio appeal tomorrow night for settlement of the coal walkout, has been urged to employ "volunteers" or the army, if necessary, to reopen the strip mines.

The President stood firm in his determination for a show-down battle with Lewis and dissembled at his weekly cabinet meeting the Government's strategy to end the coal walkout.

Organized labor rallied to Lewis' side in the finish fight. CIO President Philip Murray called upon the AFL and the railroad brotherhood to unite with his organization against what he called a drive to cripple the labor movement.

Mrs. Willard Croft, Morrisville, chairman of literature of the Junior Women's Clubs of Bucks County; and Mrs. Alan Benedict, Langhorne, literature chairman for Langhorne Sorosis.

The program of the day was in charge of Mrs. Richard T. Myers, chairman of literature committee of the Travel Club. Music included three Christmas selections on the symphony harp by Miss Winifred V. Tracy; and group singing of carols, with Mrs. Albert M. Dowden as pianist.

Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Jr., and Mrs. Lewis M. Worthington presided at the tea table following the program.

The business meeting which occupied the first part of the afternoon, was conducted by president Mrs. David M. Sheerer, Jr. Introduced to the group was A. Wm. Lohler, executive secretary of the Bucks County Branch, Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, with headquarters at Doylestown. Mr. Lohler called attention to the display of items made by blind individuals and which were offered for sale. He mentioned the reciprocal agreement between branches as regards exchange for variety of goods.

An offering received yesterday, amounting to $28.36, will be used toward a Christmas party for the blind workers at the Doylestown branch, also toward the Christmas needs of the Camp and Hospital Committee of the American Red Cross of which Mrs. Phillip Popkin is local chairman.

An announcement by Mrs. Elwood P. Goslin, public welfare chairman, was to the effect that a workshop will again be conducted in Bristol this winter, the first of the eight meetings being held January 13th. Mrs. Hutton reminded of the club Christmas party on the evening of December 20th at 8:30 o'clock. A humorist will be guest speaker. Members are privileged to invite one guest. The Junior Travel Club Christmas dance for December 2th at Torresdale Country Club was announced.

Report of returns for the recent fashion show and card party showed a profit of $107.40. Minutes were read of the last few meetings by Mrs. Carl Foell. Mrs. Maximilian M. Lawrence informed members that the peacetime service committee has arranged to purchase a bedside radio for a veteran at Valley Forge Hospital, Phoenixville.

Industry Here Shows Effects of Coal Strike

will have been laid off at the Bristol plant, 100 at Bridesburg (Phila.), and about 250 at the Knoxville, Tenn. plant. By the end of that week the shutdown probably will affect 350 more workers at Bristol, and 200 at Bridesburg.

"According to the present outlook, only a very few departments will be able to continue operation until the end of the year. We plan to operate each individual department just as long as raw materials hold out," said Covert. "Since the coal strike last Spring interfered with our production, we have been trying hard to build up stocks of all materials so we could operate through periods of shortage; but this new strike and embargo coming before we had recovered from the last ones, have forced us to shut down. Full operations will be resumed just as soon as the rail embargo is lifted and the reopening of the coal mines has placed our suppliers in a position to deliver the raw materials and other operating supplies we must have."

Late yesterday afternoon the Fleetings management also issued a statement as follows:

"Due to the coal strike, freight embargo and resulting shortages of materials, the management of Kaiser-Fleetings, Inc. is forced to notify its employees of an indefinite curtailment of its operations at Bristol, Pa. This curtailment will begin Friday, December 6th. Employees will be called back as rapidly as conditions permit."

Judge Keller urged the students to visit the "Row Offices" and explained the functions of each.

Because of the resignation of Miss Elizabeth Palmer, Mrs. B. Stanley Luff was elected a director of Newtown New Century Club during its business session Wednesday afternoon. Miss Palmer resigned from the board because of ill health.

The session, which was attended by 25 members, was in charge of the president, Mrs. Raymond Taylor, who called on committee chairmen for reports. Announcement was made by the welfare committee of its intention to cooperate with the Newtown Welfare Association in the distribution of Christmas baskets.

Mrs. Alexander Johnson was elected into membership.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Leatherman on Thursday celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary at their home near Danboro, where they have lived for 38 years. The family consists of four children, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

William F. Greenwalt, county farm agent, announces there will be a meeting of the Bucks County Fruit Growers at Doylestown on Wednesday, December 11, at 6:30 p. m. The speaker will be A. L. Hacker, Lehigh County agent.

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 7.—A directors' meeting, a cocktail party, and dinner party, in that order, are scheduled for the evening of Thursday, December 12th, when Bucks Co. Real Estate Board holds its holiday meeting in the Fountain House here.

Bucks Co. Trust Co. will be host at the cocktail party at five o'clock, with dinner served at 6:30. The directors' session is called for four p. m.

Among the guests will be: Leonard Parot, president of Penna. Real Estate Association; Milton Strouse, former vice-president of the state association; also presidents of real estate groups of the metropolitan area and their wives.

This will be the last meeting over which Charles J. Hupp will preside as president.

FALLS ALUMNI LOSES TO 'HIBOES' BY SINGLE POINT

Game Was Clean and Well
Played Throughout
Entire Period

FINAL SCORE: 28 TO 27

Both Teams Were Poor In Shooting From The Foul Mark

In the closest game played thus far this season, the Hibernians scored a one-point victory over the Falls Alumni quintet last night on the Rohm and Haas club-house floor. Final score was: Hibernians, 28; Falls Alumni, 27.

Although it gave the Hiboes a five-point lead at the time, the deciding field goal of the tilt was scored by Substitute Joe Cahill who shook the cords from side court after receiving a pass from "Brook" Harkins.

Just before the final whistle sounded "Kenny" Parr and George Chewing scored double-deckers for the Fallington boys which shaved the Hib's lead to one-point with four seconds remaining to be played. However, Parr made the mistake of crossing the line in an effort to stop a throw-in and had a technical foul called on him.

Both teams were poor shots from the foul mark. Falls made but three conversions in 17 tries while the Hibernians had 6 in 18 tries.

The Falls boys held a 13-9 advantage at the half-time mark but the Hiboes forged ahead just as the third period closed when Joe Gallagher sunk in a long shot to make the count, 19-18. The Hib's increased this lead on goals by Snyder and Harkins and kept the edge until the finish.

Parr was high man for the losers with six points while both Harkins and Gallagher had seven points each for the Hib's. Defensively, Dugan and Monti stood out.

RAMBLERS TO PLAY AT SHORE

Tomorrow night the Bristol Ramblers roller hockey club will travel to Atlantic City to play the Atlantic City Americans for the second time this season. The last time the Ramblers played the Americans they tied them with a two-all score. Coach Keene wishes to have all players on hand to leave at 5 p. m. at the usual meeting place.

No wants too small or great that a Want Ad will not solve.

ROHM & HAAS FIVE TOO FAST FOR PASSANANTE

Chemical Mixers Suffocate
The Grocerymen,
32 to 25

LOSERS GREW WEAK

Carnvale and Everitt Were The Stars For The Victors

Failure to stop Pat Carnvale and "Augie" Everitt caused the Passanante five to lose its second game of the Bristol Basketball League last night on the Rohm and Haas club-house court. Carnvale and Everitt scored 22 points between them as the chemical mixers scored a 32-25 victory.

The Passanante aggregation was pressing from the start and kept the score close until it tired in the final period and the boys of Jesse Vanzant went ahead, never to relinquish their lead.

The grocerymen had a 5-3 lead in the first period when Anderson and Bob Petrick scored fielders and Walters countered with a foul but at half-time, the Maple Beach contingent had tied the score at 11 each with Carnvale scored five points and Everitt six.

Manager "Mike" Petrick, of Passanante, kept switching players in an effort to halt Carnvale during the second half but the fast Rohm and Haas forward got away three times to shake the cords with twin counters. When Carnvale was being watched too closely, Clyde Betts began to roam freely with the result that he got three field goals during the second half.

"Wait" Wilson scored a trio of goals for the Harriman team during the last twenty minutes of the game.

Republican Platform Will Support 1946 Planks

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor has stated that his party's legislative program would be concentrated on the planks of the 1946 platform in support of Governor-elect James H. Duff's announced intention of giving Pennsylvania "a state government molded to the needs and aspirations of the people."

Taylor's statement, issued in advance of the caucus of Republican House members here, today emphasized the unanimity of approval that has built up among GOP legislators for Duff's constructive, far-seeing program.

"The Republican bloc in the State House of Representatives is solidly behind Jim Duff," Taylor said. "That goes for Senate Republicans as well."

"Our meeting today, aside from electing the next Speaker of the House, will give us an opportunity to exchange legislative views in keeping with the planks set forth in the Republican platform of 1946. "That platform covers the pertinent issues of soldier bonus, state hospitals, advancement of stream clearance, public health, farmer aid, highways, state finances and other matters having a definite bearing on the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth."

"Governor-elect Duff is determined to make good on his campaign pledges and since they were the basis of the party platform, the people will weigh closely every move and decision of the 1947 Legislature."

"The Republican party will be judged by its acceptance of these responsibilities. I am convinced that the Republican members of the Senate and House will co-operate thoroughly in this program. We also will welcome the co-operation of the Democratic party in developing a peacetime pattern of progress."

"With the groundwork already established by the Martin Administration, there should be no difficulty in attaining a common meeting of the minds."
